Official estimates of unemployment in the UK are obtained from the Annual Population Survey (APS) using the internationally agreed International Labour Organisation (ILO) definition. The ILO definition is based on the number of people without jobs who are looking for work. The APS unemployment figures which are subject to sampling differences are only available for Local Authority (LA) areas. The Claimant Count is released on a monthly basis and is available down to ward level, so is used as a more current indicator of unemployment levels.

Table 5: ILO Unemployment Rates

Area	ILO Unemployment Rate (working age)	Total Persons ILO Unemployed	Claimant Count Totals (November 2006)
United Kingdom (Mar 06)	5.1%	1,462,400	922,069
East Midlands (Mar 06)	4.7%	97,300	60,555

Leicester Shire Economic Baseline Study 2006

The following analysis is an extract from the recently launched Economic Baseline Study for Leicester Shire. The study provides a comprehensive, robust and unbiased review of the economy and the labour market in Leicester Shire. The study is based around the key themes of “Economy and Investment”, and “People, Labour Market and Skills” and provides an in depth analysis of these themes for Leicester Shire.

The full Economic Baseline Study and an executive summary is available to download from the Leicester Shire Intelligence website www.lsint.info

A key feature of the Economic Baseline study is the use of the Local Economy Audit Model (LEAM). The LEAM provides a systematic analysis of the profile and performance of the Leicester Shire economy. A series of carefully selected indicators are employed in order to identify specific strengths and weaknesses, challenges and opportunities associated with the Leicester Shire economy. The chart and table below summarise the labour market position in Leicester Shire, the key points are;

- Leicester Shire has a relatively weak labour market profile, though significantly, it is still one of the highest scoring sub-regions in the East Midlands. It scores higher than the East Midlands for the majority of indicators on this domain.
- Encouragingly, Leicester Shire has the strongest workforce profile with the highest proportion of knowledge workers and the second highest economic activity rate in the East Midlands. However, the skills profile for the sub-region is weaker than the comparator areas.
- The East Midlands has a weak labour market profile and the region is ranked 8th in the regional league table. The region scores lower than the national average for all indicators except for economic activity, which is slightly above the national average.
